I don't remember being this huge with Kier, I think I'm carrying a baby elephant, at least I don't have such awful morning sickness this time.

I feel a bit sad for Lexi, I think she'd love to have kids but she might not be able to. I feel bad about it, I really hope she'll be able to have one some day.

I've had a little girl, Maia. She is so beautiful, so like Kier it's scary, two peas in a pod, the boy and girl version! Her first official engagement was her grandmother's birthday, sigh. Libby is 60 and she still knows how to have a drama! And she's so horrible to Sian and even worse to Pamela, I know she looks after her and everything but that's the problem. That girl needs to be set free so she can get a life of her own.

It's my turn for a birthday, I'm 30! Mike and Maddy organised a surprise party for me! Naughty, naughty! But it was a right good laugh.
