

Nerdanel

Nerdanel was the daughter of Mandran and the wife of Eänonor.

She bore him seven sons but unlike her husband, was of a peaceful nature and sought to moderate his fiery temper and pride with wisdom. For a time, she was the only one able to influence him. Called "the Wise", Nerdanel refused to follow her husband to Middle-earth.

Nerdanel was a noted sculptor. She is said to have made statues so lifelike that people thought them real.

She had brown hair and a rosy complexion.